ANZEA CONFERENCE 2022

Want to help make Aotearoa New Zealand a better place?

The Demystifying Evaluation scholarship could be for you

Are you currently studying public policy, sociology, data science, or a related field and about to finish your degree?

Do you want to know more about the exciting world of evaluation and how it plays an important role in building a resilient Aotearoa?

Do you want to strengthen your skills for a successful career in policymaking, research, or programme design?

If this sounds like a bit of you, then you are our people!

The Demystifying Evaluation scholarship is aimed at new graduates and early-career professionals who are not experienced in evaluation but are interested in an impactful career in government or related areas.

MartinJenkins has teamed up with ANZEA to offer the Demystify Evaluation scholarship stream

For 30 years MartinJenkins has been a trusted adviser to clients in the government, private, and non-profit sectors in Aotearoa New Zealand and internationally, working to make Aotearoa a better place.

Our diverse, multi-disciplinary team provides services in a range of fields – as well as research and evaluation, this includes public policy and regulatory systems, organisational performance, employment relations, financial and economic analysis, economic development, and data analytics.

We believe that making good use of evidence is critical for improving the lives of ordinary New Zealanders. Through our evaluation and research work we generate evidence-based insights that help clients to understand:

- what they are doing well and who is benefiting from their work
- why some people are benefiting and others are not, and
- how to improve policies and services to better achieve their goals.

The scholarship will pay for you to attend the 2022 ANZEA conference, and could kickstart your career

This year, the ANZEA conference is being held in Wellington, 10–12 October 2022, and the theme is "Ka mua, ka muri: Looking back to move forward".

The conference will be a great opportunity to make valuable industry connections and to develop and strengthen your knowledge of evaluation. A better understanding of evaluation will also strengthen your policy skill-set.

Your attendance at the conference will also be useful to include on your CV for future job applications.

The scholarship includes the registration fee for the conference, flights and accommodation (if you're not Wellington-based), and the conference dinner.

You'll also have the chance to meet people from MartinJenkins working in evaluation, policy and related areas.

ANZEA is the professional association for evaluation in New Zealand

ANZEA is a member-based organisation that seeks to promote, advocate, and advance high-quality services to the people of Aotearoa through high-quality evaluation.
